

Roche Brings 7-Minute Lung Cancer Shot to India

Teena Thacker

New Delhi: Roche Pharma India has launched the country's first injectable immunotherapy for lung cancer, allowing patients to receive the treatment in about seven minutes instead of intravenous infusions that can stretch on for hours, potentially reducing long hospital visits for thousands of patients.

The Drugs Controller General of India (DCGI) has approved the subcutaneous Tecentriq (atezolizumab) for adjuvant and metastatic non-small cell lung cancer (NSCLC). The medicine is available at an MRP of approximately ₹3.7 lakh per dose. The much shorter administration time compared to conventional treatment will help reduce patient and caregiver burden significantly at overcrowded cancer centres across the country. Sivabalan Sivanesan, chief medical officer at Roche Pharma India, said, "Lung cancer is among the top three causes of cancer-related deaths in India, with nearly 80,000 patients diagnosed annually and almost half of the total patients at an advanced stage.

At present, patients typically spend at least five hours in hospital per visit for the treatment, with repeated trips every three weeks, preceded by blood tests and fitness checks. "You're talking about a frail, already symptom-heavy patient now having to go through the burden physically and emotionally of being in the hospital," Sivanesan said. Besides quick administration time, the subcutaneous formulation requires far less preparation compared to intravenous treatment. More than 10,000 patients globally have already received the subcutaneous formulation. The drug was first approved by the UK's Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA) in 2023, followed by the US Food and Drug Administration in 2024.

Nvidia Market-cap Nears $6 trillion

Nvidia shares rose on Thursday, extending a 20% rally over the past seven days as investors plow into the chipmakers profiting from a flood of investment spending on artificial intelligence. The stock rose as much as 4.7% to $236.47. The advance added more than $900 billion to its market capitalisation and pushed it toward $6 trillion, a valuation no company has ever reached. The advance is the latest reflection of how intensely investors are gravitating toward perceived AI winners, with semiconductor at the epicenter of it. — Bloomberg
